QUESTION ONE

Using examples show the extent to which African colonies were important to imperial powers during the First World War.

QUESTION TWO

What is indirect rule? Critically examine the contribution of Lord Lugard to the policy of indirect rule in Africa.

QUESTION THREE

Terence O. Ranger reduces the classification of African reaction to colonization into "Collaboration and Resistance." Critically analyse his views with regard to African resistance to colonial rule from 1919 to 1939.

QUESTION FOUR

According to Michael Crowder, the social, economic and political impact of the First World War varied from territory to territory depending on the extent of involvement and the degree of recruitment in that particular area. Using examples from Africa, assess the validity of this assertion.

QUESTION FIVE

Considering historical events in post-colonial Africa, would you agree with the view that the end of empire in Africa facilitated economic development?
