FINAL EXAMINATION QUESTION PAPER, MAY, 2009

Title of Paper: World Politics

Course Code: PA 400

Students: BASS IV

Time Allowed: Two (2) hours

- Instructions:
1. Answer any two questions.
  2. All questions carry equal marks of 25

1. The faith of the Liberals in solving the problems of inequalities among nations is (a) the realization by all states that this is a world of interdependence and (b) to therefore create organizations for regional and international cooperation. Indeed there are presently many organizations focusing on social, political, economic and security cooperation. Using one or two such organizations assess the relevance of these organizations as a strategy to remove the inequalities among nations.
2. Fighting "terrorism" is now the priority of the foreign policy of some of the leading states of the world. What are the causes of this "terrorism"? Can it be defeated?
3. Hans Morgenthau argues that when states act on the international arena, they are essentially in pursuit of power.

Critically analyse this contention.

4. Should the UN system, with regard to security, be reformed? If yes, how should it be reformed? If no, why not?
